

Mayakoba Picks 2012

The Mayakoba picks are based on recent performance and historical performance at the event. Picks can be verified by checking out the statistics page on the web site.

Spencer Levin – Levin was a pick last week but finished 52nd. Against a much weaker field and an event he finished 2nd at last year, he looks like a solid pick for this week.

Cameron Beckman – Beckman hasn't exactly lit it up lately, however, he did win this event in '10 and has finished in the top 15 in 4 of the last 5 years, seems the course may suit his game.

Brian Gay – Another previous winner and he's on a bit of a trend coming into this event.

Johnson Wagner – Wagner won here last year and has a win already earlier this year and he's on a trend and he's had a second place finish this year as well. He may be the best pick out there this week.

Jarrold Lyle – Lyle has 3 top 10 finishes here over his 3 starts in this event. And he finished 4th last week, he's on a roll.

Heath Slocum – Slocum has a couple decent finishes at this event and has done mediocre over his past couple of starts this year, a bit of a long shot, but he's one of the bigger name players in the field, if you can think of Slocum as a bigger name player...

Peter Lonard – Lonard has a couple of top 10s and a 15th place finish in his last 3 starts. Perhaps he can keep the good play going and get a win. He also has 2 top 10 finishes at Mayakoba, although they were in '07 and '08.

Brian Baird – Baird has 3 top 10s in the last 3 years at Mayakoba, maybe this will be his first PGATour victory. He's on a trend too.

Charles Howell III – Howell is one of the bigger name players here, along with Slocum.

John Huh – Huh is on a backwards trend, but he could turn it around at Mayakoba.

Others to consider:

Ben Curtis, Michael Thompson, Jose Manuel Lara, J.J. Killeen, Skip Kendall, Alejandro Canizares, Brian Harman
