

Match Play Picks 2013

The Match Play picks are as follows: there are no match play picks. These are the top 65 or so ranked players in the world, any one player could get hot, shoot a low number and beat the other guy.

There are some players who are playing better than others coming into the event, but since they are matched against similar players, I recommend looking at each match up and decide who is playing better and who does better historically at the match play tourney and going with the best of both.
